"I Am a Hebrew" was the subject of the Rev. Dr. Silverman, at Temple Emmanuel, yesterda yafternoon. He recounted the great deeds of Jews in all lines of human endeavor. He spoke freely of race prejudice that prevailed in many quarters of the globe. He exhorted the Jew to glory in the virtue and lineage of his ancestry, to meet social prejudice with a high head and defiance. Oppression from without, said Dr. Silverman, has emphasized the spirit of brotherhood. He pointed out that the Jew, in spite of his ostracism, has remained loyal to his country, entering its army and navy and fighting Religion Is One Based on Spirit of Love, Says Dr. Fluno.

In speaking of "Religion and Life," Dr. Maurice H. Harris, rabbi of Temple Israel of Harlem, said:

"We cannot divorce social duties from religion to continue as a separate entity. Though the synagogue can never again absorb all the interests of the Jew, as was the case only a few generations ago, the power is there still to play a tremendous part in the life of to-day.

time, however, the State Department of Health authorities, who were wholly out of sympathy with any attempt to suppress or censor Dr. Leiser in the interests of the local fraud-medicines, stepped in and made a place for him on their programme of September 6, the night before the American Public Health Association convened. How little Dr. Leiser is amenable to soft-pedal pressure is indicated by the following passages from his address dealing with the local patent medicines: We are particularly interested in patent medicines because in the United States two hundred thousand deaths a year can be attributed

United States two hundred thousand deaths a year can be attributed to the indiscriminate taking of these patent nostrums.

And now we come to one that is made here in your own city, "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey." You have a health slogan in Rochester, "Live a little longer; everybody is doing it," and, surely, if you take the slogan seriously and wish to live a little longer you must condemn the methods for exploiting this very inferior grade of whiskey. When the Federal government brought Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to court three of the best chemical experts in this state testified that Duffy's was nothing but an inferior grade of whiskey sweetened with cano sugar. In spite of this it has been widely advertised as a cure for tuberculosis.

It is a well established clinical fact that one of the principal etiological factors in the production of Bright's disease is alcohol, and yet practically all of the widely advertised nostrums for the cure of Bright's disease contain large quantities of alcohol.

Again must Rochester blush, for it is the home of that widely heralded cure for Bright's disease, "Warner's Safe Remedy," originally called "Warner's Safe Cure." I remember well that as a youngster I was in mortal fear of death from Bright's disease, and that I experienced a great deal of personal satisfaction when I came to this city and passed by the office of "Warner's Safe Cure" and learned that for one dollar ($1.00) I would be saved from an early grave from Bright's disease.

Show me a man or woman who is a slave either to "Peruna," "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey," "Warner's Safe Remedy," "Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," "Vinol" or "Hostetter's Bitters" and will show you a man or woman who is, consciously or unconsciously, a drunkard, because all of these preparations contain anywhere from

Now, an attack upon and denunciation of a great local industry at an important public meeting is news, and rather sensational news, to the minds of most newspaper men. But the Rochester newspapers have been trained by rigorous discipline to suppress anything that might be offensive to local interests or to advertisers. Moreover, with one exception ("The Post-Express," which refuses the more blatant species of patent medicine advertising), they are all given over wholly to the partnership with quackery. I have studied sedulously every Rochester paper of the day following Dr. Leiser's speech-which, by the way, was received with enthusiastic approval, particularly the references to the local productswithout finding the slightest indication or hint that there was any mention of the notorious Rochester nostrums. "The Herald" had the frankness and unusual (for Rochester) courage to feature the Leiser address in its headlines. But it carefully refrained from mention of any specific nostrum, and omitted any references even to the class of frauds to which the Rochester products belong. "The Democrat and Chronicle," perhaps as indiscriminately receptive a medium for fraudulent advertising as can be found in this country, confined its mention of the Leiser attack to headache powders and cancer and consumption cures. There are no advertised headache powders manufactured in Rochester, nor cancer cures; and Duffy's Malt Whiskey has ceased to exploit itself as a consumption remedy. "The Times," another "wide-open" publication, took precisely the same tack. Neither of at Fort Wayne. key has ceased to exploit itself as a consumption remedy.
